

FIG. 1

FIG. 2

340 STRUCTURAL REPRESENTATION OF DISCOURSE FOR THE FLAW	310 FIRST LANGUAGE	320 SECOND LANGUAGE	330 WRITING CULTURE	350 CORRECTIONS	360 COMMENTS
370 STRUCTURAL REPRESENTATION OF DISCOURSE -A	JAPANESE	ENGLISH	EXPOSITORY	NODE LEVEL DEPTH NOT DEEP ENOUGH	REPHRASE PARAGRAPH TO HELP READER FOLLOW EACH STEP
STRUCTURAL REPRESENTATION OF DISCOURSE -C	ENGLISH	JAPANESE	EXPOSITORY	NODE LEVEL TOO DEEP	REPHRASE PARAGRAPH, ALLOW READER TO DEDUCE THE NECESSARY STEPS

300

FIG. 3

Text Building Unit Identifier	Text Building Unit
1A	When
1B	we find discontent and weariness inside our head
1C	we inadvertently say things to ourselves
2A	Why do we mumble to ourselves?
3A	It is because
3B	by mumbling to ourselves
3C	we sometimes calm emotions down a little
4A	when angry
4B	we sometimes kick at stones
4C	and calm our nerves
5A	This is a compensatory act
5B	which channels anger into things
5C	This releases one's feelings.
6A	This unconscious compensatory act is life's wisdom
6B	given to human beings.

FIG. 4

FIG. 5

FIG. 6

FIG. 7

Text Building Unit Identifier	Text Building Unit
1A	In olden times
1B	copying information by hand
1C	was necessary
2A	some mistakes were made
3A	copying machines made it possible
3B	to make quick and accurate copies
4A	Travelling by car is convenient
4B	but
4C	one has little impressions of localities
5A	walking
5B	makes it possible to enjoy localities further
6A	Although
6B	copying machines are convenient
6C	copying by hand
6D	is sometime better
7A	information remains in one's memory longer
7B	and can be used later.

FIG. 8

FIG. 9

FIG. 10

FIG. 11

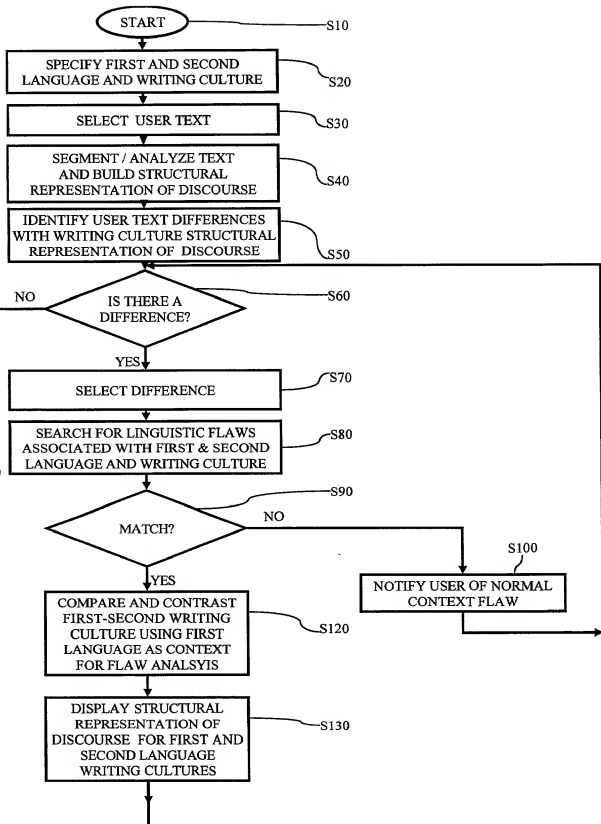

FIG. 12

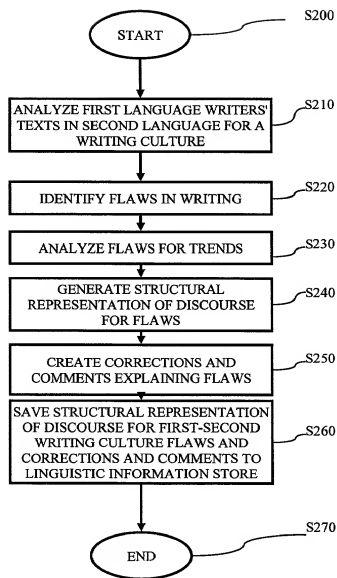

FIG. 13